Harvington CE First and Nursery School Development Plan Key Priorities 2025-2026

Establish and embed an effective leadership team including changes to subject leadership.	Create a school culture of writing for pleasure. Improve writing outcomes by embedding consistent approaches that develop children's early writing, strengthen their enjoyment, engagement and confidence as writers, and ensure assessment informs adaptive teaching and progress for all.	Ensure all key stakeholders have a voice in shaping the school's direction, with feedback actively informing decisions and contributing to a culture of partnership, trust and continuous improvement.	To extend pupils' experiences of cultures and difference, enhancing their appreciation of diversity.
Following changes across leadership levels, this year we are going to work to create a leadership structure that supports school leadership and management, both from an strategic and operational perspective.	Following positive improvements in recent years promoting reading for pleasure, we are targeting writing this year. This work will include teachers revealing themselves as writers to pupils and us writing for a real audience as often as possible.	We are looking at working increasingly closely with pupils, staff, parents, governors and the local community.	Celebrating diversity is of great importance to ensure our pupils are ready for life in modern Britain. Opportunities to explore and celebrate difference are being planned across our offer to pupils.
